

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

FROM MILWAUKEE.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SENTINEL.

The Last Day—Great Doings and Sayings—Two more Veto's, &c. &c.

Madison, March 31, '55.

I sent this afternoon a full abstract of the proceedings up to noon of this, the last day, and now proceed to sketch the afternoon and evening proceedings.

SENATE.—On meeting in the afternoon, a communication from Mr. Prooffit was read, estimating $1,000 due on his estimate, and $75,000 due on non-fulfillment of his contract.

The following bills passed, at intervals up to 11 P. M.

Appropriation to Postmaster, $493.

" Clerk in their Halls.

" for Senate Officers.

" for a subsidy for hanging around the Capitol all winter.

Appropriation to State Printer $75,000—estimated in Assembly to $73232 and incurred.

Appropriation to State Auditor, $10,000.

Assembly adjourned to 5 A. M. of Monday.

through the State. Petitions have come up here from these homes, as from the wilds of Oconto, whence 50 Indian Chiefs had sent their pray, and from the Dane Co. jail, whence the prisoners had sent their humble petition to have the cause of their crime swept away. All over the State the friends of this law will be found, and they will be found at the polls on the 1st of November, and Right will triumph over Might.

Mr. Gay, too, answered for the friends of the law. He said that he never had any expectation that the bill would escape a Veto, and had so said from the beginning, but he wished still to be counted among its friends, and believed it constitutional still. He administered a scathing rebuke in passing to the Governor, for his impropriety in assuming to dictate to the members as to what their constituents demanded, and reported upon His Excellency for his remark in the other Veto, that he did not believe that he (the Govt.) was sincere in the one, but that it was got up for partisan purposes and to serve political ends.

Mr. Ebbets went through a grand oration in favor of the Veto, the minority, &c., and expressed himself as ready to meet his opponents and answer his action to them. He made the issue between the Republicans, (vulgarly, Chicagoans) and the democrats, on this great moral (1) question.

Mr. Welch reminded gentlemen that over 6000 persons had petitioned for this law, and not one man in the whole state had remonstrated against it. It was not a republican measure, but rose infinitely higher than any partisan issue. The democrats of Winnebago county would feel justified by such issue being thrust upon them. His own town, Neenah, was democratic town, and yet had any man here instructed to do, and because he would do, what he had done. If this issue is thrust upon the Republicans, they would take it, and the democrats might make room and buy whiskey the basis of their party. Some lawyers were opposed to the law because it was said it was against the state constitution, and some because they felt it to be against their physical constitution, but as long as the best judges in the land sustained the law, that was enough. For himself, he should not abate a jot of heart or hope, but, if God gave him health and strength, would go into the canvass, and not yield an inch until the sun which looks down on this fair state from Lake Michigan to the Father of Waters, should sow the curse and shame away.

Mr. Stevens, said that he, who was instructed to vote for a prohibitory law, should sustain the Veto!

Mr. P. H. Smith, under like instructions, said that he had in vain attempted to get the friends of the bill to square it with his ideas of a constitutional law in some particular, and should withdraw the Veto.

A Committee appointed to wait upon the Governor reported that he had no further message, and Speaker Sholes saying that he had in fact voted to strike the bill, and that the bill was to be voted on again.

Mr. Bowe, who had urged him (Mr. S.) to oppose the law, was a Maine Law man, and he never would cast another vote for the same.

Mr. Bowe took the matter home to himself, and after consulting with his friends, and had a good deal of trouble, voted to sustain the bill.
